CELEBRATING NATIONAL PEACE CORPS DAY

HON. CAROLYN C. KILPATRICK

OF MICHIGAN

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 27, 2003

Ms. KILPATRICK. Mr. Speaker, I rise to celebrate National Peace Corps Day on February 28, 2003 and to commend the organization and its volunteers for the important work they do around the world. Since 1961, more than 168,000 Americans have taken part in this important mission to volunteer in 136 countries. This mission is important on many levels.

The idea of the Peace Corps began in my home State of Michigan when John F. Kennedy, campaigning for President, proposed the concept in October of 1960 to a group of college students in Ann Arbor. He wanted to see how many of them would be interested in volunteering in developing countries to help in their progress and development. In March of 1961, the Peace Corps was established through an executive order signed by President Kennedy. Today, more than 40 years later, the Peace Corps remains a vital government program that helps to forge strong ties with other countries and to promote global peace.

Peace Corps volunteers give much of themselves during their assignment, and on a human level, there can be no greater service than helping to improve and making a positive difference in the lives of others. As a result of Peace Corps volunteer efforts, the ties between American citizens and those in host countries grow and remain strong long after the Peace Corps assignment has concluded. I know of no Peace Corps volunteer who has returned unchanged or unmoved by the positive work they have performed and the wonderful people they have met.

In my district, currently four volunteers are participating in the Peace Corps. They include: Ms. Kathryn L. Donahue placed in Lesotho; Mr. Brent J. Hayduk in the Ukraine; Ms. Maureen A. Magee in Gambia; and Mr. Seth W. Pickens in Haiti. I am so proud of them and the other volunteers across our nation. To all volunteers, past, present, and future, I say thank you for your dedication and for the honor you all bring to our country.

PAYING TRIBUTE TO NANCY NIXON

HON. SCOTT MCINNIS

OF COLORADO

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 27, 2003

Mr. MCINNIS. Mr. Speaker, it is with pride that I recognize Mrs. Nancy Nixon of Ouray, Colorado. Mrs. Nixon has helped her community in many ways, and her love for children is especially evident. She has selflessly devoted her time to giving children an opportunity to learn for more than twenty years.

Mrs. Nixon grew up in Kansas City, and lived in Los Angeles, before she and her husband, John, moved to the beautiful mountain community of Ouray, Colorado in 1975. Nancy and her husband have two children, both of whom are attending college. Since she first moved to Ouray more than twenty years ago, Mrs. Nixon has not stopped helping her community. In 1976, just one year after relocating, she was the first president of the Friends of the Library. She organized and chaired various community events, most notably Ouray Days. Now, Nancy and John and are both active with Ouray's Performing Arts Guild and Arts Council. Helping in her community seems to come as second nature to Nancy, from coaching the Speech Team and working with the swimmers, to organizing the community's parades and rummage sales.

Working with children is one of the many things for which Nancy has a special gift. She has been a teacher in all three levels of Ouray's School District. She was originally hired to teach middle school, but soon after, began to teach at the elementary school level as well. Years later, Nancy taught English in the high school, and now she runs the Ouray School Library. Using her position in the library as a springboard to help children, Mrs. Nixon has created KURA, a non-profit radio station broadcast from the school and involving many students. She has given many hours of encouragement and support to the kids whom she teaches and helps.

Mr. Speaker, it is with much honor that I recognize Mrs. Nancy Nixon before this body of Congress and this nation. Her spirit of caring is one that has given many gifts to Colorado, and will continue to do so. Ouray is lucky to have such a resource among its citizens.

INTRODUCTION OF THE PENSION SECURITY ACT OF 2003

HON. SAM JOHNSON

OF TEXAS

IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Thursday, February 27, 2003

Mr. SAM JOHNSON of Texas. Mr. Speaker, I am pleased today to join Chairman JOHN BOEHNER in the reintroduction of the Pension Security Act. Last year, the House acted quickly in the face of corporate scandals to protect American workers' pensions by passing the Pension Security Act. Unfortunately, the Senate did not consider this bill in the last Congress which makes reintroduction necessary.

Pension protection remains a key priority for all of us, and with the new Congress, we have a real opportunity to send President Bush a comprehensive pension security bill he can sign into law. We should not have to wait for another corporate scandal before we empower workers with new protections that can help them enhance and protect their retirement security. We are committed to addressing the pension security of American workers. Workers must be fully protected and fully prepared with the tools they need to protect and enhance their retirement savings.

The Pension Security Act gives millions of Americans new tools to help them better manage and expand their retirement savings. The Pension Security Act gives workers new freedom to diversify contributions of company stock three years after receiving it in their 401(k) accounts; expands worker access to high quality, professional investment advice; allows workers to purchase retirement planning services with pre-tax dollars; empowers workers to hold company insiders accountable for abuses; and gives workers better information about their pension plans. It also includes a number of provisions to make it easier for small businesses to start and maintain pension plans and would further protect rank-and-file employees by ensuring that statutory stock options will not be subject to payroll taxes.

Last year, the Committee on Education and the Workforce and the Subcommittee on Employer-Employee Relations held a combined total of three hearings over four days to examine the collapse of Enron and to examine how to better protect pension participants. We heard testimony from Administration officials, pension experts, and rank-and-file employees.

One theme that emerged from the testimony was that pension plan participants need more tools to effectively manage their retirements. Secretary of Labor Elaine Chao stated: "Partnered with the proposed increased ability for workers to diversify out of employer stock, investment advice services will be more critical than ever." We also heard testimony from Tom Padgett, a former Enron employee. During a hearing, Chairman BOEHNER asked Mr. Padgett: "Did you receive any information, or as I would describe it, investment education from your employers or others talking about the need to diversify your account?" Padgett responded without hesitation: "No sir."

Enron, like most U.S. companies today, did not provide its rank-and-file workers with access to investment advice. The Pension Security Act would fix outdated federal laws to allow employers to provide their workers with high-quality, professional investment advice as an employee benefit while making advice providers personally liable for any advice not provided in the employee's best interest. Millions of employees who have seen their 401(k) balances dwindle might have been able to preserve their retirement savings if they'd had access to a qualified adviser who would have warned them in advance that they needed to diversify.

I am concerned, as many of my colleagues are, about protecting workers and preparing them with the tools they need to protect and enhance their retirement savings. Congress made important steps forward last year with the Sarbanes-Oxley Act regarding corporate governance. That law incorporated two provisions from the original version of the Pension Security Act dealing with notice and trading during blackout periods.
